Name

Cent pour Sang la Vie

Description

Cent pour Sang la Vie (One Hundred Blood for Life) is a non profit organization based in Paris and founded in 1999.

Its main goals are:

- Support and help families with the leukaemia through the development of research
- Raise awareness and disseminate information related to leukaemia and its treatment
- Development of the French register of voluntary bone marrow donors
- Participate in the financing of the medical research mainly through the organization of the National Days against the leukaemia (2-5 June 2017). This national major event has for logo: "I give, You look, They are cured". Each year this event is held in 50 cities of France

Over the last 18 years Cent pour Sang la Vie has contributed to the financing of over 120 scientific projects for a total amount of 3 million Euro.

Today you can choose to participate in this fight against leukaemia and contribute to our work.
